Most Other DJ’s

1. Your event given to one of many DJs

- Too often these DJ’s are inexperienced, part-time, hourly employees who don’t have your best interests in mind.

2. Minimal service before your reception

- “Meetings” are often simply phone conversations with someone other than the person who is going to be the DJ at your reception.

3. The basic DJ setup

- Usually a charge for any special effects - if available.
- Different packages leaves client unsure of what they need for event.

4. Music and basic announcements only

- Most DJ’s see their role as very limited and do not realize that their actions (or lack thereof) greatly effect the outcome of any event.
- DJ just plays music, no coordinating of events

5. The same old formula

- Cliché party songs and odd un-danceable requests

6. Upgrades Unavailable/Very Expensive

- Few companies invest in the latest resources available. Many rent this equipment which greatly increases the fee they charge for it’s use. Also, rental equipment is often unreliable.
